WHICH ARE THE HEROES!

With a stump at his head for a pillow, and his dead face lit up with a smile, full length 'neath a dark waving willow, Lies one of the rank and file.

He holds in his thin hand a packet, 'Neath r sleeve not garnished with gold, And the buttons left on his Jacket Are bloody, and tarnished, and old

The packet may be from his mother, Her letters, a Bible or chain, With the beautiful face of another Who will look for his coming in va'n.

To-morrow the pickets will find him, And bear him away with the slain; In the old tattered biankets they'll wind him The old, sad story again.

You wonder, so long he is lying Out there in the darkness alone; You wonder they left him there dying With no one to hear his low moan.

Who needs to the cry of the wounded When the wearlsome day is done? Men hear but the trump that is sounde To herald a victory won.

The Captains are covered with garlands
As they prance over the blood-clogged sed
The heroes are gone to the star-lands
To rest in the mansions of God !

A boy about 14 years of age was smoking a cigar on the south portico of the City hall the other morning, when a citizen halted before him and

"Boy, do you realiza what you are

"Smokin' a powerful good fivecenter, won on a bet," was the reply.
"But don't you know that you Well, you are. That cigar contains enough nicotine to kill a cat." "I'm no cat."

"I know. It does not kill you suddenly, but poisons the blood and sows the seed of fell disease. You may drop dead on your way home." "I ain't goin' home."

"It fills me with horror to see a lad of your age destroying both soul and body. Boy, I entreat you to throw away that vile cigar."

"I dasn't. Some one elee would pick it up and be pizened." "Throw it away and I will buy you three apples."

"Don't like 'em."

"Or a quart of peanuts."
"Say," said the boy, as he fondly regarded the inch of ashes at the end of the cigar, "I bet a boy the cigars this morning that he couldn't tech his tongue to a lamp post and then sing Sally Walters. He teched, and there's a crowd up there now trying to thaw him leose. I ain't very scart about bein' pizened, and I don't keer much for fatherly advice, but if you've got any spare time you might go up there and tell that 'ere boy that a chunk of natural philosophy is worth a hull barnfull of experiments."

Remarkable Growth of Oregon.

From the New York Tunes I'nder many disadvantages, the State of ()regon has still made marked progress. From interesting statistics just given to the public, it seems that its area is 95,274 miles, or more than twice greater than Massachusetts. It cannot properly be called a new State, for the Territorial Covernment was put into eperation early in 1849, and ten years later Oregon was admitted into the l'nion In 1850 it had but 13,294 inhabitants. In 1860 this number had 90,923, and in 1990 to 176,704. This growth, though rapid in itself, must be regarded as comparatively slow. Since the first settler went to the Pacific Northwest, more than forty years have elapsed to much shorter time, as is well known, the most populous commonwealths have sprung up in other parts of the country. That the corner of the Union in question has not kept pace with such great and growing States as lows and Kansas is due chiefly to un distance from centres of population and the lack of railways. Had Oregon and Washington, with their admirable climate, rich soil, and varied capabilities, been as accessible as Kansas and Iowa, it is only reasonable to believe that their population, instead of being less than 300,000, would now be counted by millions. But the isolation which has been to blame for this is rapidly ceasing to exist. Direct communication with the East will soon be established, es of the phenominally cold and it is very rafe to predict that when the next census shall have been taken list of populous and prosperous States.

Mrs. Merrun in was in the "kitchen, attending to her household duties, when she heard a sharp report like that of a pistol. Noticing smoke coming through a grack in the bed room door, she opened the door and a horrible spectacle met her gaze. Upon the bed lay little Maude, motionless, with the blood two feet deep in Ohio, and the river arreaming down her face, cheeks and through her golden hair. The little hands were clasped to the left side of her face, and a revolver lay by her side, smoke insuing from the muzzle. She called, but before it arrived the little one was dead. The supposition is that Maude took Mr. Merriman's revolver discharged. The ball went into her mouth at the left side of the tongue and buried itself in the base of the

DOINGS AT MENTOR.:

SPRINGFIELD, ILL., January 27 .increased to 52,465, and in 1870 to The Senate Committee on Warehouses reconsidered their former action to-day, and decided to recommend to the Senate the confirmation of William H. Smith, George M. Bogue, and William H. Robinson as railroad and warehouse commissioners, by a vote of 6 to 5. Mamer, Republican, again voted with the Democrats in the negative. In the Senate the following bills vere introduced : By Mr. Fifer, appropriating $3,900 for the ordinary expenses of the State library of natural history at Normal for the improvement of the library. By Mr. Fiter, appropriating $80,000 for the erection of a hospital for insane criminals. By Mr. Bent, appropriating $250,000 | him is Dr. Samuel Aughey, of the state for the current expenses of the Chester penitentiary.

By Mr. Bent, appropriating $250,000 for the purchase of material, etc., for the erection and completion of the buildings at the Chester penitentiary, and the purchase of machinery. By Mr. Evans, appropriating, $128,- 250 for the special and ordinary expenses of the Northen Insane Hospital at Kankakee. The committee on judicial departnents recommended the passage of a bill to consolidate the several grand divisions of the Supreme Court, and locate them at Springfield. The Lewis' bill, establishing probate courts in counties having over 100,000 population, was ordered to a second In the House—the appellate court bill passed unanimously.

The regular order of business was taken up, being the consideration of the resolution offered by Martin, of White, urging Congress to grant a pension of not exceeding $8 in amount to the veterans of the Florida, Black Hawk and Mexican wars.

The Committeee on Federal Relations ecommended the adoption of the reso lution, with an amendment excluding Jefferson Davis from its provisions.

Mr. Young, of Massac, offered an amendment excluding from its provisions all who bore arms against the Union An exciting debate followed, party lines being drawn in the discussion. Young's amendment was adopted by a rote of 123 to 16, and the resolution as amended was adopted by a vote of Several committees reported their ecommendations to the House, but no action was taken.

WASHINGTON, D. C., January 27 .-The Democratic leaders concede to-day that the electoral count rule cannot be passed, and that it will have to be abandoned. One more attempt will be made, however, and then, if they find themselves mashle, by lack of a quorum, to force a vote, the measure will be

The Senate Finance Committee has been polled, and a majority found to favor a long 3½ per cent bond, and $200,000,000 short-time bonds.

BLOOMINGTON, ILL., Jan. 27.-The funeral of Gen. Gridley to-day was one of the most largely attended ever known in this city. The pall bearers were Mesers. E. Thorp, Peter Whitmer, M. W. Packard and J. H. Cheney, of this city, and Mr. Jesse W. Fell, of Normal, and Judge Clifton H. Moore, of Clinton The Bloomington bar attended in a body. The services at the grave were conducted by the Masonic fraternity. The city government attended in a body and most of the business houses were closed from 1 to 3 o'clock.

Circuit Court Cases. Only two cases received attention in the Macon County circuit court this forencon, The first was the case in chancery, Martha B. Daly against Albert Daly and others. The husband of the plainiff died some months ago and left a will bequeathing 176 acres of land to his widow, Mrs. Martha R. Daly, to be held by her so long as she remained a widow, but no pro-vision was made in the document as to what shipped 4,387 bushels of corn and oats, should become of the land in case she should re-marry. The plaintiff had filed a bill asking that she be given one half of the land; that she be granted her dower interest in the other half and also her homestead interest-$1,000. After of that size in Illinois. On yesterday Mr. bearing the arguments by the opposing counsel, Judge Smith held that the plaintiff was hogs at $4 65 per hundred. He is one of entitled to one-half the land as her absolute the most energetic hundres men in this right, but no portion of the other half, except her homestend right. The court ordered that first the pinintill's homestead interest in the uld be set apart, and the balance be divided—the plaintiff to be given 14 of the remaining land and the other half divided among George V. Loring were appointed commission case they fall to make an aminable settlement be sold at public sale and the proceeds divided plaintiff, and Nelson & Hundley the heirs.

At the hour of adjournment, this noon, the case of the People against Michael K. Disabled Ex-Prisoners, Atlantion! We are requested to give the subjuined resolutions a place in our columns for the benefit of those interested: The following preamble and resolutions were unanimously adopted at a reg-ular meeting of the Chicago Union Vet-eran Ciub, held at the club rooms at the Grand Pacific Hotel, on Dec. 13:

WHEREAS, It is hardly possible that any man, who during the late war was subjected to the barbarities and inhuman treatment of a so-called Confederate prison for a period of three months or more, could have come out of it other than a permanently disabled man; and WHEREAS, According to evidence of Prestley. Miss Fannie was given a fare-the Andersonville Survivors Association, well party last evening at the home of many men who were thus disabled, are unjustly excluded from the pension rolls, noder the present laws, by mere technicalities and unfriendly rulings and re-quirements, especially by the present commissioner; therefore, be it Eprecopalians is Council. Rev. W. H. Moore, rector of St. John's Church, this city, visited Springfield on Wednesday, and attended the Federal Counsel, comparing the Dioceses of Quincy, Springfield and Illinois, of the Protestant Episcopal Church, at St. Paul's Cathedral. There were present, besides Bishop Seymon, of Springfield, and Bishop McLaren, of Chicago, Rev. Frederick Courtney and Dr. Morrison, Caicago; Dr. Easter, Jacksony Jie; Revs. D. W. Dresser, erts, who affixed their signatures to the certificate as witnesses of the marriage. Mr. Mar-Carlinville; E. A. Larrabee, Springfield; Dr Lefflugwill, Knoxville; H, P. Budd, vin, who is a Bavarian, is a callroad man, and Kewance; Dr. Robert Richey and Dr. will make Decatur his home. Corbyn, Quincy; Messrs. S. Corning Judd and II A. Williamson, Peoria; R. P. Johnson and Geo. H. Harlow, Springfield; Wm. Ellis, Bloomington; Judge S. A. Foley, Lincoln. Committees were appointed on the several declarations of principles granted by the General Council, and the reports of committees, upon being presented to the province, were discussed and then adopted. Resolutions affecting the interests of the new Province as orrelatives, and then expressed a willingness to die. He closed his eyes on earth and passed ganized, and of minor importance to those not familiar with the workings of the Episcopal Church, were introduced and adopted. The object of the meeting of the Federal Conneil was to draft a plan to be proposed to the dioceses of Hitoole, Quincy and Springfield, respectively at their next convention, whereby the three dioceses may enter into federal relations in accordance with a provision made by the General Convention. These federal relations have in view the exercise of the following powers: 1. The organizing and administering of an appellate court for adjudicating cases brought before it by appeal from the courts of the several dioceses. 2. The charge and care of educational and charitable institutions. 3. The charge and custody of matters pertaining to the extension of the church, lede, Ohlo, says: My wife is strong as acceptance and administration of all the acceptance and administration of all the LUNGS. For the Republican.) HOPE.

I am sad and weary With the sorrows of my life; Days and nights are dreary With the sore and angry strife.

Thus my soul in anguish Cries in hopoless toll of night; I in weakness languish With the dimness of my sight.

May I rest in Heaven When the darkness here is past Yes, the hope is given, For smid the stormy blast.

Lo the light is gleaming the the path of fervent souls, Graceful showers are streaming White the angry tempest rolls.

Consolations given
Are for those who hope and trust;
So when tempest driven
Let me lean upon the just.

Let no doubling ever Rob my soul of joy or ease; Naught but sin can sever Me from bliss in large degrees.

Let the life be cheery
As the thrilling joys go by;
Carch them as they near me;
They will halp me to the sky.

Why should darkness gather Round the soul of glory born? Hope says, "Let it rather Dwell amid the radiant morn."

Editorially the Prairie Farmer is independent and non-partisan, but it shall have an opinion and a word upon every importantisme, whether social, political, or industrial it will speak out with no uncertain voice upon all great measures that have bearing upon the productive and commercial interests of the country. Its principal sim at present is in so elucidate the relations of the State to the lines of transportation that a permanent adjustment of rates may be made by legislation and contract, and the interests of all parties—producers, carriers and shippers—conserved. It will campy and firmly oppose the extortions of monopoly, without nigring the destruction of reasures of transce of traine or the impairment of vested rights.
